

Kyle Toth

Startup pitch

For my startup idea I am going to make a fitness and meal tracker. It will be able to track various goals that you have with weight gain or loss through tracking your total intake vs you total expenditure. It will display this data through a graph or another graphic. There are already a lot of products that aim to fill this market but I think that it will be a good project for this class. For the technical challenges I think the main thing will be coming up with a good way to structure the database to store all the data that needs to be easily accessible. Another challenge will be displaying the graphs of the user's stats. I think that I will be able to overcome both of these challenges as I have some ideas on how to make the graphs and the database should not be too much of a problem with only a few users.